I said that the Bullied Diesel would be my last loco I'd ever build... Well, here's just one more!

With the Bullied Diesel now finished I started twiddling my thumbs.

Then I suddenly remembered an old DJB kit I obtained second hand many years ago. Due to missing parts I had stored it away in a wardrobe, but the wife had put all her junk on top of it, so it had been forgotten for a long time.

So, the latest loco construction I have been tackling is a Standard 80000 Class 4 Tank Loco, which has been a bitch to build – DJB kits were never easy – and I'm still scrounging around for those missing parts for it.
